SET SUGGESTIONS: The “Computer” actor is always on stage on a higher level from the rest of the action. A video camera is focused on the actor and there is a live feed to Claire’s room during dialogue scenes. There is also video showing in Claire’s room as we go through history of the past – this is her “lesson” every day. When she is communicating with her “friends” – the audience will see them behind the walls of her room which would be made of scrim with lighting effects or something projected in front of them so they don't look clear – they need to look computerized. Claire's room needs to come on and off stage. The back and side walls of her room is what the audience sees as the computer – however Claire should see the computer all around her. The outside world is like a park or forest with grass, trees, and flowers – maybe they are distorted in some way because of the big accident. Also, we need to see how the environment is being destroyed due to lack of water. So patches where there's no grass, trees, and flowers dying.
